

WOMAN SLAYER FOUND INSANE; IS TAKEN TO ASYLUM

Nicholas County Woman Who Slew Her Sister-In-Law Is Returned To Asylum For the Insane.

Mrs. Hattie Abner, 40 years old, of Nicholas county, who, it is alleged, last Wednesday shot and killed her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thelma Swarts, 18, and later made two attempts to end her own life, was taken to the Eastern State Hospital at Lexington Tuesday after having been adjudged insane by a jury in the Nicholas circuit court. Four physicians testified at the trial Tuesday that Mrs. Abner was insane and she was taken immediately to Lexington by Sheriff James Gaunce, who had arrested her following the shooting last week.

Mrs. Swarts, who was killed, was released from the institution at Lexington on the Friday preceding the shooting, returning to her home near Licking, ten miles from Carlisle. The two women lived together on the same farm.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Abner is alleged to have chased her victim twice around a field near the house, firing several shots, fatally wounding Mrs. Swarts. Mrs. Abner then ran around the house and jumped into a well in which there was only three feet of water, according to two hunters who witnessed the tragedy from the banks of a nearby creek.

The men rescued the woman from the well and she was later arrested and placed in the Carlisle jail. There she again attempted suicide the night of her arrest by hanging herself in her cell with her apron.

At the present time she is said to be in a dangerous physical condition and it was necessary to give her morphine to enable her to make the trip to Lexington.

The killing was the first to occur in Nicholas county in six years and the first time in the history of the county that one woman murdered another.

NO RAILWAY POSTAL CLERK EXAMINATION

Civil Service Commission Warns Against Misleading Advertising of Schools.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7. — The United States Civil Service Commission stated today that there has been brought to its attention numerous misleading advertising circulars and newspaper advertisements of certain so-called civil service schools.

In these circulars and advertisements, information is given that a railway postal clerk examination is soon to be held. The commission states that no such examination has been announced and that it is not known at this time when it will be necessary to hold an examination of the kind. When one is to be held it will be duly announced.

Many of these so-called civil service schools, said the commission, recruit a considerable part of their clientele among young people of limited education in rural communities, who fall easy victims to alluring statements regarding railway postal clerk and other positions in the government service and extravagant claims as to the advantages of training with the so-called schools.

The commission points out that definite and authentic information regarding pending examinations may always be obtained from any of its local representatives or by writing direct to the office of the Commission at Washington, D. C. The commission has a representative at the postoffice or customhouse in each of approximately 3500 cities throughout the country.

CITY OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED THIS EVENING

Council to Select Policemen and Other Officers at Regular Semi-Monthly Meeting To Be Held This Evening.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of City Council Thursday evening at 7 o'clock promises to be a very interesting one for the annual election of officers is scheduled to take place.

The campaign for minor city offices this year has been a very tame one in so far as has been known none of the present officers have opposition except members of the police force. All of the present patrolmen are candidates for re-election and there are three additional candidates for places on the force.

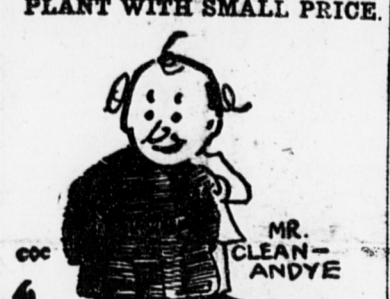

For the first time in many years, Council has held no caucus this year and if there is a fight to develop, instead of developing in caucus behind closed doors, it will develop in the open on the floor of council.

The Ledger predicts the re-election of all officers and the reappointment of Chief of Police James Mackey as head of the force.

Under the third class city rules, the Mayor must nominate the candidates and council then ratifies the Mayor's nomination or appointment. While there has been no official announcement, we are of the opinion that the Mayor will nominate all present officers.

Dr. and Mrs. Virgil D. Guttard will leave Friday morning for Lexington to attend the annual meeting and banquet of the Ohio State University Alumni Association for Kentucky, of which they both are members. A radio message from President Thompson of Ohio State will be one of the many interesting features of this meeting.

MEXICO JOINS THE UNITED STATES IN MURDERESS HUNT

Fugitive Murderess Will Be Returned To United States As Undesirable If Caught In Mexico, Say Officials.

Los Angeles, Dec. 7.—Mexico aided American officials today in the search for Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess," still at large 48 hours after her sensational dash for liberty from the county jail.

Governor Lugo at Mexicali announced that if the escaped woman is captured in Lower California she will be returned to the States as an undesirable alien.

"Gold Tooth" Johnson, alleged admirer of Mrs. Phillips, and formerly a fellow inmate of the county jail, was held here today for further questioning on a technical charge of suspicion.

He gave what authorities described as a "superficial alibi" and they believe he may know something about the escape.

Meanwhile reports poured in from people on all sides who claim to have seen the missing murderess. She has been observed fleeing in autos, power boats and even in airplanes, according to "tips" reaching the officials. Sheriff Traeger, although almost overwhelmed with conflicting clues, left hastily last night for San Diego.

FOUR CHILDREN DIE WHEN COTTAGE HOME IS BURNED

Small Chicago Home Burns Causing the Death of Four Children and Seriously Injuring Four Others in Home.

Chicago, Dec. 7. — Four children were burned to death here today when fire destroyed the cottage home of Joseph Budak.

The fire was caused by a kerosene lamp which was left burning near an open window. Apparently the wind blew the curtain into the flame. The family was asleep upstairs.

Michael Budak, 16, was awakened by the smoke. He shouted to his father, who jumped from a window and gave the alarm.

When firemen arrived the interior of the cottage was a mass of flames. Three children were found dead in one room. The mother, clasping baby Eva to her breast, lay unconscious in the hall. She was rushed to the hospital, where her conditions is grave. The baby still was living when rescued, but died a few minutes later.

FARM AND HOME NEWS FROM OVER KENTUCKY.

Poultry culling demonstrations held this fall in McLean county by County Agent R. H. Ford and the extension division of the College of Agriculture have helped scores of farmers in that section of the state get rid of the poor layers in their flocks. In one month a total of 3 flocks were culled to show farmers how to distinguish between the good and poor layers. A total of 1,468 birds were handled, 521 of these being rejected as culls.

Scrub livestock is continuing to lose its place on Rockcastle county farms. County Agent R. F. Spence says. Four Duroc Jersey boars, six Hampshire rams and seven roosters are the most recent additions to purebred stock already on the farms. Systematic work is being done in the county to get farmers to turn from scrub and mongrel to purebred stock.

Seventy Henderson county farmers and their wives have entered their flocks in the winter egg laying project being conducted over the state by the extension division of the College of Agriculture. They will feed and take care of their hens according to recommended practices and keep daily records on the number of eggs they get in order to show how good feed and the right kind of care help hens lay more eggs in winter.

Steady progress is being made in the campaign to wipe out tuberculosis in Lewis county cattle herds. County Agent R. O. Bate says. Thirty days work in the campaign recently resulted in 237 farmers listing 1,209 cattle to be tested for the disease.

Better feeding of hens so that they will lay more eggs in winter is getting attention from Morgan county farmers. County Agent R. B. Rankin says. Five of them recently made orders for tankage in order to supply their hens with animal protein, one of the things required in the ration before hens can lay the largest number of eggs.

Junior agricultural club work not only is helping to keep Harlan county farm boys and girls satisfied with their lot in the country but also is helping many of them swell their bank accounts. County Agent Robert T. Harrison reports. During the past summer, one club member in the county made more than $115 from one-tenth of an acre of tomatoes and another made a total of $338.50 from her garden on one-fifth of an acre.

Crittenden county farmers are taking steps to replace scrub breeding animals of the county with purebreds, according to reports of County Agent John R. Spencer. In one week recently 45 of them joined the nation-wide Better Sires-Better Stock campaign by agreeing to use nothing but purebred sires in all their breeding work.

Grayson county banks are co-operating with County Agent R. W. Seacore and the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington in helping farmers in that section of the state put their farm business on a basis where it will pay a profit year after year. The Bank of Caneyville and the Bank of Clarkson will each furnish County Agent Seacore with 50 farm account books that will be distributed to 100 farmers so that they can keep systematic record of their business the coming year.

Fayette county farmers are showing increasing interest in the grading and better methods of marketing their farm products. County Agent W. R. Gabbert says. Good attendances and keen interest have marked recent demonstrations held over the county to show burley growers how to strip and grade their leaf crop.

COMMENT

It appears that council has bolted the time-honored custom of caucus this year and will carry the fight, if any develops, to the floor of council on Thursday evening.

The present administration of school affairs in the state of Kentucky has the respect and confidence of the people. This administration has raised the standard of Kentucky schools from the mire. The present squabble over the normal school presidency is to be regretted.

We understand that the nine candidates for policemen each have the promise of enough votes in council to elect them and there are but six to be chosen. Many another man in past years has also thought he had the promise of enough to win until election night. It's a sure thing that three will go down in defeat tonight.

John Bradford, Kentucky's first editor, located at Maysville first when he reached Kentucky. A picture of the state's first editor should be hung in our High School. Who will be liberal enough to donate such a picture to the city schools?

While the delivery of tobacco to the local market has not been heavy during the past few days, the several tobacco wagons passing over the local streets certainly look good and remind one of the days when Maysville was one of the greatest loose leaf tobacco markets in America but it now looks like "them days are gone forever."

Christmas Savings Clubs will be paying off in a few days. This system of saving Christmas money is a good one and there should be many new members in next year's clubs which will start right away.

The Irish now have their Free States and while there are still many who insist on absolute freedom from any connection with England, there are many leaders who see in the Free State the best possible form of government for the Emerald Isle. The little island has certainly had its share of political troubles, and is fully entitled to its new government. Here's wishing them success and happiness.

Our Daily Poem

WHAT HAVE YOU DONE?

What have you done for the world today,
For all it has done for you—
With its life and its chance and its toil
And play,
And its music and laughter and dew?
What have you done for a world that sings,
For a world that shines as you go;
For a world that is master of mice
And kings,
That can make or can break with a blow?
Why are you troubled and discontent
In a world that has done so much
To dower you with grace of the gifts
It has sent
And the chance it has helped you to clutch?
For this beautiful world is a place,
Indeed,
That is doing things hour by hour
That should help us to climb to a happier creed,
As the blossom climbs unto the flower.
What are you doing to help it along
For the help it is giving right now
To the children that list to its prayer
And its song
And are touched by a holier vow?
What have you done for a world that can smile
And help you to smile on your way,
And a world that is lovelier, mile after mile,
For the sake of its children each day?
—Baltimore Sun.

NEW YORK ONCE UNDER WATER.

Though many people have a general idea that large parts of the United States have at times in the past been covered by the ocean, it is perhaps not so generally known that the continent is even now rising in some places and sinking in others. Not so very long ago, in a geological sense, the Hudson River flowed through a deep canyon or gorge at New York City. Soundings show that this ancient gorge extends through New York harbor and far out to sea. The land surface in this region has evidently been lowered, allowing the ocean to creep in on the land, fill the old river channel, and in place wholly submerge it. The ocean at one time submerged more of the land about New York than it does now, for in excavations made for some of the skyscrapers the remains of oysters and other salt-water animals have been found. By the nature of fossils thus found the paleontologists of the United States Geological Survey have been able to tell approximately when and how far the ocean invaded the land. They have found evidence of a submergence that was wider and older than that which now floods the ancient Hudson River gorge. New Yorkers need not, however, feel alarmed about the ups and downs of their island, for though this submergence is not so very old geologically, the geologist thinks and speaks in terms of thousands and even millions of years.

Newport, Ky., Dec. 5. — Bert W. Smith, road foreman for the Kentucky State Road Department, was at liberty today under $1,000 bail, charged with manslaughter. The warrant for his arrest was sworn to by Frank Water-

"Did you look good," asked Ruth speaking to Jack. "I've been down to the store for mother. Maybe she has the afternoon mail, let's go find her."

The two kiddies ran through the house to the kitchen where mother was finishing the last of the dishes from the evening meal. Jack had been at Freddie's house for supper and had just returned.

"Did you get a letter for us from Uncle Ted?" asked Jack as he ran into the kitchen.

"Yes, Jack, there it is over there on the table," answered his mother. "It came late this afternoon and I haven't opened it as it is addressed to you both. So take it and run along. As soon as you have finished reading you must both run along to bed."

In a few minutes Ruth and Jack were seated before the open fire and Jack spoke up:

"It seems to me Uncle Ted has been gone an awful long time but I knew he'd write us about his trip, so here goes."

"My dearest kiddies: Uncle Ted had

SEVEN AGES OF MAN When the Dead Line Reached in Human Life?

Human vitality begins to wane at 40, which is about the fifth age of life. People around the age of 40 are dropping out of life because they neglect to keep the human vital spark in full flame.

Infirmitie and disease are mainly caused by constipation. Few people realize how fatal to health are the waste poisons which clog the intestines and bowels. People in middle life are easy victims of colds, grippe, and pneumonia.

Health, the most precious gift in life, should be carefully watched by everyone. Millions of people today are guarding their health and keeping their system regulated by using Bulgarian Herb Tea.

To break up bad colds a cupful of Bulgarian Herb Tea taken hot at bedtime gives splendid results. Its gentle laxative qualities aid nature to relieve constipation, indigestion, biliousness, stomach and bowel troubles. Just make up your mind to keep well and strong by using this pure medicinal tea at least once each week. Just watch your health improve. You will never want to be without it. See your druggist today. He can honestly recommend Bulgarian Herb Tea.

hoped to be with you by the time you receive this letter but it is impossible. I have had a wonderful trip and although very busy, I have taken time in every city and on every train to find out as much as possible about what people are thinking of our government at Washington and the general business conditions of the country. My first stop was Columbus, Ohio. Naturally the people there are very strong for President Harding. I found a very optimistic feeling about general conditions, in the hotel lobbies, on the street, in the stores and in the newspaper offices. It was Armistice Day when I was there and there were over 5,000 soldiers and ex-soldiers in a big parade. It was a beautiful sight. Columbus is booming and they have absolute faith in the present administration at Washington to continue to run the government on as near a business basis as is possible. Nine out of ten people to whom I talked are in favor of the ship subsidy plan and this is interesting when we consider that Columbus is far removed from the coast. And let me say here that I find a general feeling everywhere that something must be done and quickly regarding our merchant marine. Business men everywhere I have been know that with the government running the shipping business as it is today means a cost of about $50,000,000 a year to the taxpayers. Surely most any constructive plan to change this is welcome. Even the opponents of the ship subsidy idea must admit that it is worth something to lift that tremendous expense from Uncle Sam's back.

"From Columbus I went to Indianapolis, Indiana. Indianapolis is growing by leaps and bounds and her real estate values are on the up grade which naturally reflects well for the general condition of the city and surrounding territory. The farmers are getting back on their feet, sows but surely and they are beginning to spend more money because they have it to spend.

"I find in talking to the traveling men even through the South that business is much better and that they are greatly encouraged for the future.

"My next stop was St. Louis, Mo. St. Louis is a big city from one end to the other with all kinds of industries. Built on the banks of the Mississippi River, the people are encouraged by the better conditions in business and are planning the rebuilding of their water front so that much of their products may be shipped by water. Every thing in St. Louis points to progress and better times.

"You both would love Kansas City, Mo. It is a wonderful city in the 'Heart of the Nation'. There on the streets and in the hotels you find the smartly dressed easterner on business walking along side a cowboy in his big hat and the prosperous ranch owner and old man who are in the city for a few days attending to the shipping of cattle or the placing of their oil in the hands of one of the many big oil companies. The city fairly booms with the noise of business and prosperity. One newspaper man told me when showing me through one of the most up-to-date newspaper plants I have ever seen that real estate men and contractors say it will take ten years for them to catch up in the building necessary to take care of the growing needs of the city. Dozens of apartment houses are being built and hundred of houses. The lumber business is getting back to normal in comparison with the slump through which it has passed. The hotels are crowded and there is no talk of hard times.

"From Kansas City I passed down through Oklahoma and into the great state of Texas. Even in the South where men are naturally inclined to make light of a Republican administration I found business so active that there was no complaint. In fact, the South is now enjoying the greatest prosperity it has known in many, many years. The cotton crop of the past year brought about a billion and a half dollars into that section of the country, and in recent years cotton manufacturing has increased so rapidly that now the South puts into manufactured form more than half the cotton it produces.

"Among other things I learned while I was making a swing through the South I might mention; the Louisville and Nashville Railroad is spending $2,000,000 for double tracking and other improvements; Norfolk, Virginia, is spending five million dollars on waterfront terminal facilities to aid in ocean shipping; new industrial plants costing more than five million dollars are being erected near Baltimore; in the state of Mississippi there are school buildings under construction that will cost a total of $2,500,000; in the first nine months of 1922 contracts were let for the construction of various kinds of buildings in the South to cost over four hundred millions.

"Those are big figures, children, and I know you will not be able to grasp them, but I am giving them to show that the people of this section have great confidence in the future. People do not put money into buildings unless they are satisfied that there is good business ahead."

FIVE AGENTS TO BE DROPPED.

Washington, Dec. 5.—In line with a general reduction of the personnel of the prohibition unit in all parts of the country, five general prohibition agents in Kentucky are to be dropped from the pay roll, acting Prohibition Commissioner Jones announced today. STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit To Every Maysville Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorers who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice told and confirmed, with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? Its from a Maysville resident: Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, says: "My back became weak and lame and ached across my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and I was dizzy and had headaches. I used Doan's Kidney Pills bought at Wood & Son's Drug Store and they relieved me of the attack." (Statement given November 16th, 1916.)

On November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday added: "My kidneys have given me no trouble at all since using Doan's Kidney Pills. I gladly renew my former statement."

UNABLE TO FIND FRIENDS AT JAIL

Misunderstanding Word Over Telephone, Bracken Auto Driver Seeks Neighbors At Local Jail.

The Augusta Chronicle says: Thanksgiving day Mrs. Mable Coughlin, Misses Hazel Flannery, Pauline Bachman, Mrs. Lillie Roehm, and Messrs. Joe Bachman and Walter Smith visited Maysville, the auto party being driven by "Jonesey," one of Clyde Taylor's expert drivers. At times things happen to the average automobile that are beyond the control of the best mechanics, and this happened to the one driven by "Jonesey," who used every known device to start the balky machine, but all to no avail. Finally, as the evening shadows were not far away, Clyde Taylor was communicated with over the long distance phone, and was notified to come to "The Gem" after the party. The phone service being poor, Clyde understood the jail, and thought it was "the jail." He knew that if any of his friends were in jail that the first procedure toward their liberation was to furnish bail for them, so he hiked down to the bank and got some of the "long green" that he has stored away for emergencies of this kind, and hit the high places only on his way to Maysville. Clyde made a bee line for the jail and notified the jailer that he wanted his Augusta friends liberated, and it took considerable argument on the part of the jailer to convince Clyde that there were no Brackens in the jail. After calling up Augusta central Clyde got on the right track of his party and arrived home safely with them.
